

WP8
EXPLOITATION
Description and envisaged results	Towards the end of the project, findings and experiences are to be documented and up scaled through publication of policy briefs considering the local specificities of each consortium partner. These briefs will be published by producing a video which can be downloaded at the project’s website. The link to the video will be sent to decision-makers on an administrative and policy-level as well as other key actors in the field of education. Furthermore, a final conference will be organized in Vienna where national and international stakeholders from the field of policy, school authority, NPOs and other important institutions will be invited. The aim is that these stakeholders contribute to the long-term implementation of I AM on a regional or national level and spread knowledge about I AM on a European level. Furthermore, on both activities, finalizing the pilot phase and the final conference, a press release will be made to inform about the innovative results of this project. The long-term impact of the project will be ensured by strong publishing activities. Articles for academic and non-academic will be published in order to reach a wide readership.
